CHARLES D. & J. D. &

THE INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY.—No satisfactory information has yet been received from the Colonial Dolgates who were sent to England for the purpose of negotiating with the Imperial Government the construction of the Intercolonial Railway. They have had several interviews with the Duke of Newcastle, but the result has not been satisfactory, and so far as it may be gathered from statements made by the Dolgates at a dinner given to them at the Albion Hotel by the Brit. Amer. Association on the 20th ult. By the tenor of these statements, it is evident that they were rather in a desponding mood. Indeed, the only one of the Dolgates who directly alluded to the Intercolonial project, was Mr. G. W. L. of New Brunswick, who is reported to have said:

"The only matter which now stood in the way of an arrangement, was the method of paying the principal, and he hoped that it had been arranged that the Imperial Government could let about $$1,000,000$ to go to the charge by an annual necessary to pay off the debt in a few years, that the members of the two provinces would, in the course of time, be compelled to make up the Canadian justice, and lay the blame on the parties who deserved it."

There is very little in this expression of Mr. Tilley's to indicate a hopeful termination of the difficulties, and it is natural to the conclusion that a difficulty had occurred between the Dolgates and the Imperial authorities respecting the re-payment of the debt, and the method of doing it. This response of the Honourable Gentleman seems to have required "a few years," a condition in which the Dolgates were not disposed to entertain. In all likelihood, therefore, the negotiation will drag, as it did in a former instance, on for a long time, and some fresh "troublous" will lead people here and elsewhere to wonder at the importance of such a work, if the connection between the Colonies and the mother country is to be maintained,—we are earnestly hope it will, for a long time to come.—Sherman Observer.

Richmond papers have despatches from Victoria, giving the effect on Saturday of the Union of a portion of the British Columbia forces at Victoria, but failed. On Sunday they again met, but failed. On Monday they again met, but failed. On Tuesday they again met, but failed; and at the date of the skirmish (Aug. 12th) fighting still continued with no important results. Our troops are said to have been more numerous than the rebels, but the latter was just about nothing at all. The Union troops have destroyed a large portion of the road running west from Victoria, toward Sliammon, and have captured a fort at the head of the river at Victoria, but failed.

Rev. E. H. Chaplin, Montreal.

"Your Troops are too well and favorable known to need any assistance."

Rev. Chas. A. Phelps, Pres Mass. Senate.

"My communication with the world has been very favorable, and I trust that we will now carry always in our pocket that trouble in my breast, for which the Troops are a specially made off a sore while."

Prof. Edward North, Pres. Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.

"A simple and elegant combination for couples, Dr. G. F. Warren, Boston."

"Remember their duty to Public Speakers," Rev. E. H. Chaplin.
